SCENES FROM WRANGEL, ALASKA, WHERE WE HAVE A PROSPEROUS WORK AMONGST THE INDIANS.

Cutlets from Contemporaries.

Paper.

Some of Its Recent Adaptations.

The United States makes and uses more paper than all Europe. The annual production amounting to 1,250,000 tons.

Roofs of paper and compressed wood pulp have proved successful. A Chicago firm makes paper garments, which are so light, flexible and convenient, that they are largely used in hospitals. The paper is made of the bark of the paper mulberry tree and is tub-sized and finely draped. Several sheets are superposed and sewn together. The garments have narrow woolen bindings, buttons, buttonholes and other fastenings.

Paper bottles and grain bags are made in Philadelphia. A recent invention is the paper horseshoe, which, according to the inventor, is more durable as well as lighter than the iron shoe and eliminates all danger of injury to the hoof, as it is attached, not by nails, but by cement. Two German engineers have invented a sort of re-inforced paper, composed of paper pulp, linen and raw silk, re-inforced with steel wire. The new material is light, waterproof, fire-proof, and suitable for the construction of vessels, including warships, automobiles and other vehicles for railways, street pavements, and many other uses.—American Social Gazette.

Convert's First Experiences.

The Meaning of His S's.

A recent convert of Cape Town L. Corps, told of some interesting experiences during the week. He is a sewing-machine repairer. After finishing his work at a certain place, he was invited to join the people at dinner, and did so. There was brandy on the table, and he was asked to have some. Pointing to the S's on his collar—he always wears them—he replied, no, he could not while wearing these. They could not understand why this could be so, and eventually explanation settled that; they thought the letters stood for "Singer's Sewing-machine." When the matter was made clear, they congratulated the convert, who has been a heavy drinker on having taken the step he had.

At another place in fulfillment of the compact entered into by the Soldiers of the Corps that when the time-gong goes each day, special prayer should be made for an Awakening he knelt down beside his work at twelve o'clock. This was noticed by the gentleman of the house, who asked why he did it. He was told of the promise, and then said he thought it was a very fine idea to unite in prayer in this way.—South African Cry.

How Would You Do

If Jesus Came Just Now?

What would He find if He came just now? A faded leaf and a fruitless bough? A servant sleeping? An idle plough? What would He find if He came just now?

Sooner or later His coming's sure. Say, would He find an open door? His servants watching, with lamps aglow?

Would it be thus, if He came just now?

What if He came to the garden gate, Eve sets the sun, or at daybreak? Would His sweet flowers and lilles be growing in beauty, watched o'er by thee?

What if He came in your hours of strife? Found your post vacant, found wast-ed life?

Making the Best of It.

Brigadier Margaret Morris.

Believe me, dear General, often get a mistake. But Jesus does want us to know of what "laying on the altar" really means.

One portion of it had to serve. And now, when we no longer exist, exes and familiars become the sacrifice of Jesus Christ offered, but the idea of the figure of speech—an offering, must not forget that it is upon the altar to do the highest use we can possibly.

God allows no waste.

With infinite care He takes to our entire being, some small, some large, there one great value, there one great value, should be made the very best of it.

One thing more, let us that every human being attain dignity before God, in His image and likeness, count you worth the name of Jesus Son. God respects it of your free will; respect it.

You are an arm of the body for God's service here, and in companionship in service to it. Suffer no one to dare to injure special language. Like to the presence of Jesus, we cannot hold back by the divine beauty and grace of your soul.—The Y. P.

the Congress Hall, on October
by a vast congregation of Offi-

Soldiers and friends. Space

we decided to hold it over for the following week. This is it.

My dear Son, the Chief of the Comrades, Officers, Soldiers,

Friends:—

I thank you for this magnificent ception which you have been used to give me. This gathering has been announced, I believe, as a come to The General on his return to public work; and, judging from the crowd assembled on this moment evening and the enthusiasm that has been manifested, it has been correctly announced. It gives evidence that you are really glad to see me back again. (Applause.)

I thank you for the kind words which have been spoken by those who have preceded me, and for the encouragement you have been pleased to give to these words. I thank you for the expression of your affection for me, and your confidence in me and my leadership. It has gone into my heart, and I need not say that send back again to you the assurance of the pleasure it gives me to be with you once more.

cause it gives me the opportunity of sympathy that, like an ocean, have run out to me during my absence from you, and an opportunity of asking you to join me in thanksgiving to my Heavenly Father for His goodness to me in the trial through which I have passed and with which you are more or less familiar, and in so far restoring me to health and strength and vigour as to make it possible for me to resume my place

as the Leader of this mighty Movement.

"The trial through which I have been called upon to pass, has been a real one, and was unexpected. I had gone through twenty-five out of the thirty-five days of my Motor

Campaign with the usual smoothness,

and had spoken some seventy-nine times with my usual vigour and ease—mostly for an hour—frequently to immense crowds. And the enthusiasm and affection displayed

towards me by the thousands who came out to see me, I shall never forget. It surpassed, I think, anything on any of my previous Motor

Campaigns. When the trouble occurred I could not understand it, and I was rather anxious to know whether I was to blame. If anything happens, I always want to know where my responsibility comes in.

(Applause.) People said I would not wear goggles. Well, I had some reason for not wanting to wear them. I had gone through five Campaigns without them, and I did not want to begin with them on the slith.

"Do you know what goggles are?

(Laughter.) Did you ever try a pair on to see how hideous they make you appear? I think, too, of the song which says, 'My face is my fortune, sir, she said!' (More laughter.) Oh a Motor! Your my face is my fortune—it is anyway, to The Salvation Army to some extent.

The General's Smile.

"A lady in a certain town wanted to hear me speak, but found the Hall

so crowded with people that she could not get in, and went home disappointed. At lunch-time, she was informed that in the afternoon The General was going to pass along a certain road, not very far distant.

So she ordered her carriage, away

she drove, and planted herself at the corner of the road. She waited and waited and waited, and when the White Car was in sight and she discerned

The General she waved her hand, and The General smiled back.

She was so delighted with that smile

—it was such a beautiful smile—

(Laughter and volleys)—that she drove right off to her lawyers, informed them she had seen The General that he had smiled at her and she wanted him put down in her will

for a legacy of £1,000. (Applause.)

Now, if I had had my goggles on, I am not so sure whether The Army would ever have got that £1,000.

"However I did wear goggles,

more or less, until I came amongst the people who had come out to see and hear me, and, therefore, I am not willing to believe that it was on this account this calamity took place.

(Applause.) I questioned my surgeon on the cause of the trouble, and he explained that I had got a certain bacteria into the eye. Do you know what poisonous bacteria are?

They are small, living creatures so infinitesimally small that they can not be observed without a powerful microscope. Though small they are fierce and venomous things. Small devils can often sting more seriously than big ones! He removed thirty-two, or more; at any rate, he sent thirty-two to the bacteriological department at Guy's Hospital where they nursed these tiny creatures and so prolific are they that in forty-eight hours, or less, that thirty-two had increased to five millions!

(Laughter.)

Doctor and The General.

"On the Saturday evening, after I had returned to London the Doctor came to my bedside and said, 'I am afraid we shall have to perform an operation.'

"'Have you made up your mind?' I asked.

"Yes," he replied.

"When shall it be?"

"To-day."

"At what hour?"

"One o'clock."

"I said, 'I will be ready.'

"One o'clock came round, and I rose from my bed. Four doctors were present, besides the Chief of the Staff and two nurses. I said to them, 'Now gentlemen I commit myself to your skill, to your care to your will. I leave myself in your hands and in the hands of my Heavy-ly Father.' (Volley.) Chloroform

was applied, and in ten minutes the operation was over.

"What makes it a little more difficult for me is that the other eye is imperfect and gradually becoming more defective. But the doctors say it may last another twenty years,

and if the cataract that is forming is altogether useless they will remove it and then I shall have as good an eye as ever I had in my life. (Long cheers.)

send me a cheque for £10 I shall manage to make that out. (Laughter.) I can only write with difficulty and I cannot read it when I have written it; there is, therefore a necessity that I should learn to talk better.

"Then I am going to plan more.
I have got two or three things I want to accomplish before I pass away; perhaps I have been spared on purpose to see them accomplished.

I should like to see something come out of my University of Humanity idea, which I have mentioned once or twice. Most of all I want to improve my heart, I want to improve my religion. I want to come into a fuller and more complete possession of those great blessings that were bought for me by the Saviour's Blood on the cross.

I want a more intimate acquaintance with God; a clearer sense of His favour; a more perfect knowledge of His mind; more power to do His will; and more of that peace which passes human understanding and that joy which is unutterable and full of glory.

Forgotten Vows.

"If we are to utilise to the full all these opportunities we must seek more Divine Power; we must have more prayer and faith; we must make more desperate effort; we must fight in reality not merely in name, and we must begin to do this now. Go back to the hour and place of your conversion, and remember the vows you made. Some of you are like Asa and Sappho

and have gone back upon them.

"Oh, make this the occasion of your return to your duty. We will all return together, we will give ourselves over to the service of our

Maker, as we have never done before.

"If you will do so, you will please God greatly the angels shake the world, bring thousands of backsliders to His feet, and have a Revival such as the world never knew, and never expected to know. The General will live to see it and he will then know why God has brought him back to his public work once more. The blessing of God be with you all! Amen."

Commissioner Howard closed the great gathering with prayer, and as

The General left the Hall he was tendered another ovation while many waited on the Congress Hall steps to give him a final cheer and
"God bless you" as he left for his home.

Wedding Stampede.

Citadel Packed and Doors Barricaded with Humanity—Novel Nuptial Ceremony Held at Dawson Salvation Army.

(Dawson Daily News.)

To the glad sound of the cymbal, the happy pom-pom of the drum, the melodious bing-bang of the organ, the harmonic quavers of the Brothers, and the gleeful jingle of the tambourine, the first hallelujah matrimonial nuptiation in Dawson was consummated at the Dawson Salvation Army Citadel last night.

The Citadel was crowded packed besieged. There was more humanity crowded into the place and rushing against the outer door, than at a Socialist meeting in Spain to protest against the execution of Ferrer. It was the happiest, most novel, and most enjoyable wedding ever attempted in Dawson. The joyousness of the occasion was contagious.

Many of the best known citizens attended, and a large number who wanted to attend could not gain admission because of the crowd. The only thing wrong about Ensign Johnstone's attractions is that he has his star events too often in a hall not half large enough.

After the Hall was crowded, the good people who could not crane their necks through the door, borrowed tables, boxes and ladders, and hurriedly erected a grandstand outside the big plate glass front and from that superimposed position happily viewed the proceedings.

The principals in the wedding were not known to the public until the last thing, and when Harold Worthington Butler appeared in the front of the Hall industriously preparing for the procession to enter, all hearts were raised to the keenest expectancy.

Professors Rhodes and John Dines nottily introduced the first strains from Wagner's March. At this moment Aaron Waugh, a well-to-do Granville milner, stepped forward and stood at attention under a magnificent mammoth white arch, emanated from the centre of which was a giant bell and the audience beheld the happy groom. With Mr. Waugh was John Niffer, the best man.

The wedding party advanced down the aisle with the bride, Miss Elizabeth Black, a Salvation lassie but recently from Scotland, escorted by Lieutenant Wright. Following the bride and bride's maid, were little Alice Hoveland and George Johnstone, the midget drummer boy, bearing flowers. The bride was becomingly gowned in the uniform of The Salvation Army, with pretty poke bonnet, and a neat suit of blue. The groom was in the conventional black. The bride and the bride's maid wore large white sashes over the shoulders. Ensign Johnstone opened with prayer, and Lieutenant Wright sang a nuptial solo.

Facing the audience the bride and the groom heard the marriage vows as pronounced by Rev. Turkeston, of the Presbyterian Church. The high sweeping arch of pure white and the large snowy bell contrasted brightly against the gay colours of "The Army flags and decorations, elaborately bestowed" on every part of the Hall.

After the knot was tied, the Ensign called on friends for remarks. It was a happy informal gathering, lasting but a short time but holding all with deep interest. It was not a solemn and sad affair, but many happy statements were made. The Ensign called on the bachelors to explain why they remain single and on the married men to give their experience and tell of matrimonial bliss. This afforded many a good-natured laugh.

Rev. Turkeston made a complaint that the Ensign did not have a bigger Hall, and predicted that the next nuptials should be accorded that honour, and added that he would venture to say that if Worthington Butler would not be a bachelor more than five years, Butler was given a chance to reply, and said it was the fault of the ladies; that he hated

Brigadier and Mrs. Adby Welcomed to Their New Command.

City Marshal Seeks Salvation in Their First Meeting.

BRIGADIER and Mrs. Adby have received a hearty welcome from the comrades of the St. John, N. B. Division.

A welcome tea to which the Provincial, Reserve Men's Social, and the city Corp. Officers were invited was followed by speeches on the part of representative Officers, and the new Divisional Commanders.

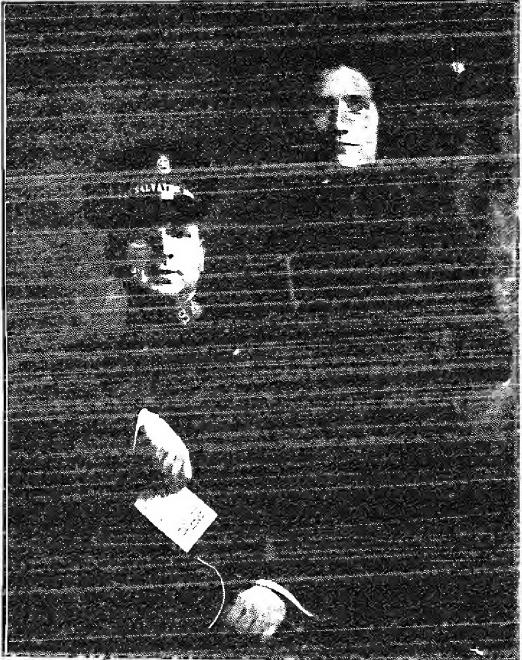

Our correspondent informs us that the talk of Brigadier and Mrs. Adby will long be remembered by those privileged to be present.

Lieut.-Colonel Turner presided over the great public welcome meeting in the Citadel. He said it seldom which was received with the greatest jubilation) and the rest of the speakers, yet he felt that unless someone started to serve God at their first meeting both he and Mrs. Adby would be disappointed. God drew near as he told of the power of Christ to save the worst.

In the prayer meeting several held up their hands for prayer and the City Marshal came forward for salvation. There is a feeling of great expectation running throughout the Division, and the spirit of revival is in the air. We are anticipating some wonderful times in the Division, under our new leaders.—H. H.

The daily "Standard" contains the following report of the installation:

Brigadier and Mrs. Adby.

fell to the lot of an Officer to welcome and install his successor, but it was a great pleasure for him to do so on this occasion, and paid a well-deserved tribute to the Brigadier's long and successful service.

After other speeches from representative speakers the Colonel called upon the Brigadier for a solo, and his rendering of "Down at the Salvator's Feet," made a deep impression upon the people.

Mrs. Adby also spoke, and the incidents she told, relating to women prisoners and The Army's work among them thrilled the congregation. The Reserve Officers feel that they have a sympathetic friend in her.

The Brigadier then spoke, and said that while he deeply appreciated the welcome accorded by the Colonel and Staff-Captain Barr (who, by the way, is staying on with the Brigadier), the announcement of women, hated them with a vengeance. He clearly loved the young and beautiful, but he explains today, he lost his love, and it had to go with the audience for what he said end not for what he intended to say. Harold is having the time of his life to-day, squaring himself.

Housing and enthusiastic was the welcome accorded Brigadier and Mrs. Adby, the new Provincial Commandant Officers at The Salvation Army Citadel last evening. Lieut.-Colonel Turner, the retiring Commander, presided at the gathering, and duly installed the new Officers in the Command. Under the new arrangement, Brigadier Adby will have command over New Brunswick, P. E. I. and Bermuda, while another Officer has been appointed to the Nova Scotia Command. Lieut.-Colonel Turner will go to Toronto.

The Citadel was well filled last evening, and it was evident that the new Commander, with his expansive smile and wonderful voice made a good impression.

Treasurer Barnes, in speaking of the Corps on the East side of the harbour referred to the splendid record of Brigadier Adby both in Canada and the Old Country, and

The building operations, some time ago in Calgary, and the addition wing to Grace Hospital, are going very favourably.

Buildings are being supervised by Band-Sergeant Kilpin, and Andrew McMillan, reported. Brigadier Burditt, the Commander, is giving a great deal of attention to these important buildings, and under his direction, confidently anticipated that the buildings will be handed over to the already splendid group of North-West Province.

The financial side of the takings is being represented by Captain Liddell and Willis, being specialists in their particular branch of work.

While the building operations in progress in Calgary, Staff-Captain is carrying on his administrative manner, and a Sunday meeting has been Lyceum Theatre. A smaller hall has been rented for the Young People's meetings, and the remainder of the week activities are held in the open air.

One of the novel features of the Sunday afternoon meetings was that no fewer than 100 ex-drunkards occupying the platform and gave testimony to the saving and keeping power of God.

With the opening of the season there are evidences of a revival of soul-saving throughout the Province, and some of our Corps, we are pleased to report, had blessed experiences in the

Lieut.-Colonel John D. Ross, visiting this Province in the name of the Young People's, Civic and Advanced Training Department, has been made a source of blessing and inspiration to all our Corps so far visited. He commenced his tour at Arthur, where he was met by Brigadier Burditt, and then came Winnipeg, for the welcome of the Prince Albert and Brandon. Thence he proceeded Brandon, Regina, Moose Jaw, Estevan, Hat and Calgary. At places Staff-Captain Arnold Battalions. On his return to the Pacific Province, Colonel Ross will visit Edmonton, St. Albert, Prince Albert and Brandon, to conduct a Corps-Cadet Course, and a holiness meeting with the Corps of the city.

The Officers in command of the Corps visited are to be gratulated on the results of their efforts in securing for Canada all such good crowds, and in making his visit a success.

In return, the Colonel sends his thanks to every occasion of personal interviews, services, dresses, and lecture on "The Thames Embankment," which was much appreciated, and will be remembered.

Adjutant Cumming has been called to go on further, and the prolonged unsatisfactory condition of his throat. While in appointment, he has been put on record many splendid

Long Sault Rapids.

A proposal to harness the Long Sault rapids by a series of dams, which would create over half a million dollars worth of electricity, has been approved by the people of Cornwall.

A million dollars has already been spent in preparing plans, buying property, etc., and from twelve to ten million dollars will be spent in the next ten years if the project goes on. It is proposed to build a dam across the Sault

with a lock which will over-

will give 65,000 horse-power.

An iron dam will be built across

A new and striking epoch in the history of India has begun, and now are to be allowed to have an independent share in the legislation of the country.

will have 370 members instead of the former 300, of whom a total of in's Problem.

One of the greatest problems of British statesmen will have to solve this winter, is what to do with the unemployed.

According to the views of Mr. E. Walker, President of the Chamber of Commerce, who has recently been on a trip to England, Britain rapidly enters upon her decay as a great nation, if she does not immediately with this state of affairs.

Mr. Walker believes that the problem is much more critical than in any other European country, because, he says, there is the vigorous, country-bred population in Britain, that there is in other European countries. Instead,

England we see county after county given over to grazing, with very little intensive farming, and profits of growing foodstuffs for mass consumption given largely to those other countries, while countyside English, city-bred people want work.

The result of this is that while there must be congestion wherever people are crowded as they are now, there is nowhere such leisure, congestion and vast pauperism

in England. Such congestion is usually accompanied by poor and physical degradation.

In view of such facts, it would be a good thing if Lord Dundonald's plan were adopted. He advises that each town secure a tract of land in the Colonies, to which it can emigrate its unemployed, all men being under contract to work to agricultural work for a settled time.

Strength of the Powers.

A comparison of the combined land and sea forces of the triple alliance, with those of the triple entente, shows to what extent the armed forces of the world powers are increasing. The armies of the triple alliance (Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy) number over 476 millions men, with 9,544 guns. The navies contain 411 ships, including torpedo boats and submarines, with 1,217,757 tons displacement, and 4,202 naval united forces of Great Britain, France and Russia are: Armies, 4,085,000 with 8,972 guns; and navies, 1,005 vessels of 2,288,222 tons displacement, and 8,634 guns.

It is weakest of the six powers but it is strongest of the triple alliance and joined the entente, then the Austro-German combination's armament number 3,750,000 men and 7,864 guns, and the combined navies, 24 ships with 486,475 tons displacement, and 2,982 guns. This combination would face the quadruple entente's 4,655,000 soldiers with 16,652 guns, and 1,150 ships of 2,241,322 tons displacement, and 9,945 guns.

and half a dozen craft are missing, driven to sea and possibly sunk.

Telegraph poles and fishing houses and signal stations went down before the blast, which also demolished wharves, waterside buildings and fishing outposts. Many of the vessels driven ashore were at anchor.

Courageous Naval Officer.

An incident which well illustrates the spirit of bravery and comradeship that has gone far to make the British navy the first in the world, was recently witnessed at Spithead. An able seaman named Barnes belonging to the cruiser "Aurum" was swept over board by a heavy set and began to sink.

Fortunately for the injured sailor, the accident had been witnessed by Lieutenant Frederick H. Hallows, first lieutenant of the "Aurum." To this fact Barnes owes his life.

Without a moment's hesitation, and with all his clothes on, the young officer plunged headlong from the cruiser's side into the sea. The tide was rapid, carrying Barnes away from the ship but in a few strokes Hallows had come up to the unconscious man and seized him.

The rescuer now devoted all his efforts to keeping Barnes' head above water. Meanwhile another seaman and a seamstress had come to the rescue, and they assisted Lieutenant Hallows to get Barnes safely into the boat, which was pulled to their aid.

Liquor Traffic Doomed.

Speaking at Massay Hall, Topeka, recently Mr. Morrow, of South Dakota predicted that many of his hearers "would see the day when there would not be a saloon distillery or brewery in America. Every hour twelve people die in the United States from the effects of liquor, said Mr. Morrow who declared that every dollar that went into the bar came out of the cash drawer of the general merchant.

"When the business world," he observed, "gets behind the movement, the end of the traffic is in sight." Forty millions of the population of the United States, it was explained, are now under prohibition, and had proved it a success.

Restlessness in Britain.

One of the causes of the restlessness of Britain just now, is stated to be the changes in the rates of wages.

According to a report issued by the British Board of Trade, over 363,000 workpeople had their rates of wages changed during 1908. Of these, 119,000 received advances amounting to over £7,000 per week, and 342,000 sustained decreases amounting to £6,100 per week whilst the remaining 330,000 workpeople had upward and downward changes which left their wages at the same level at the end as at the beginning of the year. The net result of all the changes was, therefore, a decrease of £59,200 per week.

The changes in rates of wages taking effect in the first six months of 1909, showed that the downward movement in wages, which commenced early in 1908, was still maintained. In every group of trades, with the exception of clothing, printing, and employees of local authorities, the changes resulted in net decreases the net amount of valuation being £67,714 per week.

Teneriffe Volcano Active.

A volcanic eruption recently occurred in the Canary Islands, and a new crater appeared in the Las Flores Mountains. All the villages in the vicinity have been evacuated.

The eruption, however, has greatly diminished, and the danger is now considerably less, in spite of the opening of new craters, which are throwing out flames and cinders. The lava from the volcano now covers an area about a mile and a half in length, and half a mile in width, and is advancing about six or eight yards an hour.

St. John "Standard," S. 11, 6c.

The Salvation Army, now in Council here, is reporting on a year of important work for the spiritual and temporal welfare of the people and especially of those who need assistance most and are the hardest to help. This great religious and benevolent organisation has proved itself even in this city, able to do some good things better than any other agency. It has gained the confidence of generous people, interested in helping the destitute, and the stranger, in rescuing the fallen and in caring for homeless babies that are worse than fatherless. The Salvation Army methods did not at first appeal personally to the great body of Christian worshippers. General Booth set at naught the conventions of churches and church-goers. But he was not after church-goers. That great religious statesman and organiser took for his parish the millions without the fold. Gradually he and his people showed that they could reach people who had not been reached by others, and the Commander, who was, and is still, a strict protestant who at first met ridicule and violence, is now consulted by the highest authorities of the British Empire in regard to the gravest social problems, while his organisation is entrusted with enormous national responsibilities. The Salvation Army has conducted a great work of its own, and has done hardly less in showing churches, states, philosophers and reformers, how to get nearest to the submerged population and to help them. There was never a time when those who are comfortably and relatively safe have felt as they do now, their duty to seek and save those, who through their fault and incompetence, or the fault and incompetence of their parents, have now power or no desire to escape. The Salvation Army has had a large share in promoting this sympathy and giving it practical form.

Band Chat.

Galt Band is still improving, under the leadership of Bandmaster Lawrence. The latest marches and selections are being rendered in good style. Three years ago the Corps had no Band at all. The start was made with five Bandsmen all of whom came from the Old Country.

Today there are eighteen players and two learners, and still we have room for more. If you can come, write, The Bandmaster, Box 1022, Galt.

The Territorial Boys' Band has recently welcomed three new players who manipulate 1st cornet, 1st horn, and slide trombone. Two boys are also making good progress as learners.

One or two well-spared, all alive boys, who have brass instruments of their own, would be welcome to the Band's ranks. Call or write to Ensign Stitt, Bandmaster T. Y. P. Band, S. A. Headquarters, Toronto.

Riverdale Bandsmen are highly pleased with the toll and leadership of their new Bandmaster, Captain Myers. The master at the last practice was twenty-five. The Band starts on its Christmas tour starting during the first week in December.

Bandsman W. Jackson has gone in for bigger things—he has laid down the tub and taken up the trumpet. He is "making good" already. Brother Marshall Wilson has lately joined the Band's ranks, and is doing well on 2nd trumpet.

Says an Omaha newspaper:—Last Tuesday evening, November 9th, was one of special interest to the Corps of The Salvation Army in Oshawa. The Band which has made rapid strides in the march of progress of late, gave a concert, the programme of which, for variety and excellence of execution, entitled the members to the many liberal measures of praise bestowed upon them. To show appreciation of Bandmaster S. Dix, the chairman, F. L. Powke, Esq., M. P., who delivered an opening address, was given an ovation of presenting him on behalf of the Bandsman with a fine outfit, comprising a music stand, whistle, music stand and baton. The gifts were becomingly acknowledged in feeling terms.

The leading selections rendered were "Regent's Hall," march; Instrumental trio, "Military Calls"; sketch, "Army Bands: Past and Present"; March "Band "Vesper Hymn," and selection, "Harp and Bells."

(From the Peterborough Evening "Examiner," November 19th.)

At a recent meeting of The Salvation Army Band, a change was made in its Officers, the most important being the retirement of Mr. J. Greene from the position of Bandmaster. This was brought about at his personal request, on account of his increasing duties, which demand more of his time, and the Officers of the Band are now as follows: Bandmaster, W. H. Perry; Deputy-Bandmaster, Will Ford; Band-Sergeant, Joe Thomas; Band-Secretary, W. Payton; Librarian Geo. Thomas; Band Correspondent, E. Hensley.

At the meeting held recently, Mr. Greene introduced the new Bandmaster and expressed the hope that the Band would make good progress under him. Mr. Greene's leadership and his services have been fully appreciated and a vote of thanks was accorded him. Mr. Greene, replying, explained his reasons for retiring from the position of Bandmaster. He will still play in the Band, playing Eb bass. To Mr. Greene belongs the credit and honour, in a large extent, of bringing The Salvation Army Band to its present state of efficiency. A number of years ago there was an influx of musicians, who added strength to the organization, and a marked change was soon noticed. The standard of the Band has been made higher since that time, and Mr. Greene has devoted his time and care to its development. Himself a thorough musician, he aimed at the musical advancement of the Band, individually and as a

New Wing to the Grace Hospital.

Mayor Evans Lays Corner Stone—Magistrate Daly and Mr. Congdon also Speak.

In the four years in which I have been police magistrate in Winnipeg, I have constantly been at a loss as to what to do with the girls and women who have come before me. We have the churches and the church organizations, but I could not appeal to them for assistance. I could only appeal to The Salvation Army. Yours is a religion of service and you have never failed to help me in such cases. Though your accommodation was inadequate for the work you had in hand, your Matron has always volunteered her help, and despite the inconvenience, she has taken these girls and women in, and given them the kind of treatment they have needed, and they have left, better for the teaching and the helping hand they have received."

In these words Magistrate Daly yesterday congratulated The Salvation Army on the work it is doing in the city in helping the fallen, the occasion being the laying of the cornerstone of the new wing of Grace Hospital, now under construction. The stone was laid by Mayor Evans, who also took occasion to tellote The Army on the work it has done in raising the moral tone of the city.

Explains Aims and Objects.

Brigadier Burdett, in his remarks, which followed the opening exercises, explained what The Army proposed to do, and how their work was to be carried out. He pointed out that Grace Hospital was wholly inadequate for the labour involved and that when the new wing had been completed, it was proposed to classify the work. There were four classes of women whom it was the intention to serve. There was the bad class, the poor, unfortunate, diseased and fallen, i.e. poor married class, and the better class of patients who were able to pay for the attention received. Not only was it intended that the poor mothers should be treated but that their children should be looked after while the mother was in hospital. The new Home would also be a Home of welcome for social derelicts.

Mayor Evans' Remarks.

Mayor Evans, before laying the cornerstone, within which was placed a tin box carrying the usual records, spoke of the hearty support which the people of Winnipeg as a whole cheerfully gave The Salvation

Army. He had witnessed the opportunity of giving material assistance to the work for the need of such an institution was fully realized.

The Army was carrying on a great work for the religious and social betterment of the community, but a far greater part of their work was the re-construction. They took care of the fallen, heartening them up and bringing them back to a moral attitude wherein they could again become good citizens.

A. Congdon, who for years has been a backer of The Salvation Army in both a moral and material way, also spoke. He stated that the construction of such a building from funds voluntarily contributed, was an expression of confidence on the part of the people of Winnipeg, in the men who were carrying on this great work. Everyone realized the need of proper hospital accommodation, and they also realized that the work could not be in better hands.

Salvation Army's Great Work.

T. Barnes Daly said that he was in a position to speak both as a magistrate and as a citizen as to what The Army was accomplishing in helping fallen community. He had had years of experience with them. He had only too frequently, to deal with fallen women, and four years ago he had suggested the building of a home where they could be given the kind of attention they needed to reinforce their mental and moral fibre. When approached by Brigadier Burdett, he had gladly accompanied the Officer in calling on Major and Premier Roblin, with a request for financial assistance. The result of the plea made at that time, was that the city had contributed $7,500 and the Province $16,000 toward the cost of the present building. Up to the present time he had had many fallen women before him, and when argument and treaty had failed, he had been forced to send them to jail. Had there been such an institution as The Army proposed to start, he was assured that at least 90 per cent. of those could have been brought back to respectable womanhood. Under such conditions they would regain their health, strength and self-respect. He said that his next home was a similar institution for fallen men who being victims of alcohol and having no means of recovery, to moral mental conditions available, became the bar-room loafers and vagrants of the city streets. Like the flag of the British Empire, the sun never set on the flag of The Salvation Army and they could feel assured that he

POWER.

BY COLONEL BRENGLE

"Ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you."

JUST before His ascension, Jesus met His disciples for the last time, and repeated His command that they should "not depart from Jerusalem, but wait for the promise of the Father," and reiterated His promise that they should be "baptised with the Holy Ghost not many days hence."

Then "they asked of Him, saying, Lord wilt Thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?" They were still eager for an earthly kingdom. But "He said unto them It is not for you to know the time or the seasons, which the Father hath put in His own power," or authority. And then He added, "But ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you."

They wanted power, and He assured them that they should have it, but said nothing of its nature or the work and activities into which it would thrust them, and for which it would equip them, beyond the fact that they should be witnesses unto Him "in Jerusalem and Samaria, and unto the uttermost parts of the earth." After that the Holy Ghost Himself was henceforth to be their Teacher.

And when Jesus left them, Earth lost its power to hold Him, and while they beheld Him He began to ascend; a cloud bent low from Heaven receiving Him out of sight and they were left alone, with His promise of power ringing in their ears and His command to "wait for the promise of the Father" checking any impatience that might lead them to "go a-fishing" as Peter had done some days before, or cause an undue haste to begin their life-work of witnessing for Him before God's appointed time.

For ten days they waited, not listlessly, but eagerly, as a maid for her mistress, or a servant for her master who is expected to come at any moment; they forgot their personal ambitions; they ceased to judge and criticise one another, and in the sweet unity of brotherly love "with one accord" they rejoiced they prayed they waited; and then on the day of Pentecost, at their early morning prayer meeting, when they were all present the windows of Heaven were opened and such a blessing as they could not contain was poured out upon them. "And suddenly there came a sound from Heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting. And there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them. And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost."

This was the inaugural day of the Church of God: the dawn of the dispensation of the Holy Spirit; the beginning of the days of power.

In the morning of that day there were only a few Christians in the world; the New Testament was not written; and it is doubtful if they had among them all a copy of the Old Testament; they had no church buildings, no colleges, no religious books and papers; they were poor and despised, uncouth and ignorant; but before night they had enrolled three thousand converts from among those who, a few weeks before had crucified their Lord and aroused and filled all Jerusalem with questionings and amazement.

What was the secret? Power. What was the secret? God the Holy Ghost. He had come and this work was His work, and they were His instruments.

When Jesus came, a body was prepared for Him (Hebrews x. 5) and through that body He wrought His wondrous works; but when the other Comforter comes He takes possession of those bodies that are freely and fully presented to Him, and He touches their lips with grace; He shines peacefully and gloriously on their faces; He flashes beams of pity and compassion and heavenly affection from their eyes; He kindles a fire of love in their hearts, and lights the flame of truth in their minds. They become His temple, and their hearts are a holy of holies in which His blessed presence ever abides, and from that central citadel He works, enduing the man who has received Him with power.

If you ask how the Holy Spirit can dwell within us and work through us without destroying our personality, I cannot tell. How can the electric fil and transform a dead wire into a live one, which you dare not touch? How can a magnetic current fill a piece of steel, and transform it into a mighty force which by its touch can raise tons of iron, as a child would lift a feather? How can fire dwell in a piece of iron until its very appearance is that of fire and it becomes a fire-brand? The lesson was new, sweet, and refreshing.

His afternoon subject was "First and Twentieth Century Salvationism." A subject which must have appealed to all who love the Lord.

The evening meeting was a heart-searching time. The Colonel had a powerful message on "Guaranteed Safety," from the text "I know that when my earthly house of this tabernacle be dissolved I have a house not made with hands eternal in the heavens," and as his earnest plea and his pledge of guaranteed safety through the shed blood was reiterated lovingly and gently several entered the fold of Jesus, and many more, we feel assured, longed for courage to yield to the claims of the Christ of Calvary.

Staff-Captain Arnold sang feelingly, "Why not to-night?" and his words in the after-meeting were also with power.

We will gladly again welcome the Colonel, should the War permit him to come.—John H. Wilson.

They would not have exchanged places with Herod the king or with Caesar himself. For the gratification of any personal ambition, these things were no more attractive to them now than the lordship over a tribe of ants on their tiny hill. They were now kings and priests unto God and theirs was an everlasting kingdom, and its glory exceeds the glory of the kingdoms of this world as the splendour of the sun exceeds that of the glow-worm.

The head of some great enterprises was making many thousands of dollars every year; but when the Holy Spirit filled him, money lost its power over him. He still retained his position and made vast sums; but, as a steward of the Lord, he poured it into God's work, and has been doing so for more than thirty years.

LIEUT.-COLONEL SOUTHALL AT CALGARY.

Accompanied by Staff-Capt. Arnold.

Frosty weather failed to congeal the expectations or enthusiasm of the Calgary warriors, although it seriously affected the general attendance at Sunday's meetings, when Lieut.-Colonel Southall, assisted by Staff-Captain Arnold, visited the city and conducted meetings all day.

The holiness meeting was a very precious time and from the opening hymn God's presence was manifest. The Colonel gave a most logical and convincing spiritual address on John xv.: "I am the true vine," showing how the branches required pruning to bring forth a satisfactory crop both as to size and lusciousness, and how equally the pruning process was necessary in the life of a Christian in order that the words "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit" might be fulfilled. The lesson was new, sweet, and refreshing.

FAREWELL AND WELCOME.

On Saturday November 11, while Captain and Mrs. Smith leading the meeting up orders came for them to leave. During their stay of 14 days, we have been a great help to the people.

On Sunday night two sought salvation.

The Band turned out on Tuesday to play our departure to the station. May the Lord give them victory in their new movement.

On Thursday we welcomed Captain and Mrs. Ogilvie from Saanich, D. Still.

Major Green gave a straight salvation address on the cry of blind artimous "Lord, that I might receive my sight." In the prayer meeting five persons received their spiritual sight.

One man said that our meetings are the first religious services he attended for twenty years.

Contributions amounted to $150.00.

Captain Boynton and I made all arrangements for the comfort of all. God bless them.

INADEQUATE PUNISHMENT.

We find ourselves in absolute accord with the sentiments expressed by Mr. Recorder Weir at the recent trial in Montreal, of three benious offenders against public morality.

The Recorder said:—

"We send men to jail for a term of years for burglary, theft, assault and other similar crimes. The loss of property to my mind is a light offence compared with the corruption of the morals of our youth, and the violation of their innocence. The maximum sentence is not too heavy. What more grievous harm can a person do to young women, for instance, than to inveigle them into houses of ill-repute and force them to remain there and associate with men of all sorts?"

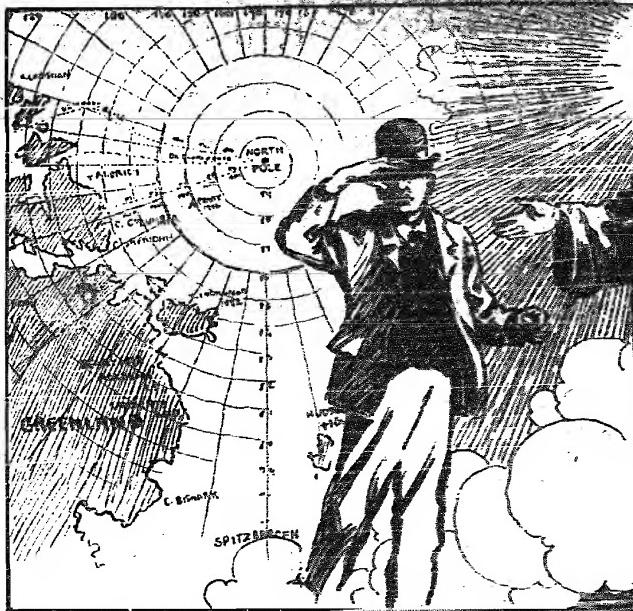

"I was asked the other day, if I did not think six months too severe a sentence for such conduct. I asked my interrogator if he knew what filth and degradation was involved in this white slavery, this crime against youth which exists to no small extent in Montreal. He must have a poor imagination if he cannot understand the horrible position that many young women, and even girls, are in to-day in this city. In stead of six months, the sentence for defilers of youth should be six years in many instances."

In our opinion, even six years would be by no means a fitting punishment for the dreadful wrongs of debauching young womanhood. It may be that, because the Salvation Army, in its work of Rescue sees so much of the suffering and misery endured by the victims of man's greed and perfidy, that we feel so strongly against the persons who prey and batter upon the despoiling of girls; anyway, we should be very glad to see the punishment for such an offence given on the basis that men and women who can inveigle young women into houses of ill-repute and force them to remain there, are dangerous to society, and unfit to be at large, and should be imprisoned for the rest of their natural lives. There is no doubt that such punishment would have a deterring effect.

Judge Winchester sent for Captain Mardall, our Toronto Police Court Officer at the last sitting of the County Court, a few days ago, and handed over to The Army's care, a lad thirteen years of age, who was arraigned for theft.

Bundeman Turner, of Ottawa I., has, we regret to say, met with a serious accident. He fell from a cliff, and has we fear, sustained internal injuries.

Brigadier Hargrave and Major McLean visited the Editorial Department a few days ago. We were glad to see these comrades from Montreal and New Ontario looking extremely healthy and hearty.

WE CAN'T ALL GO TO ESKIMO FOR THE NORTH POLE, BUT WE MAY ALL FIND CHRIST.

The Commissioner AGAIN AT HEADQUARTERS.

Well Pleased with His Tour and the Prospects of the War.

Early on Wednesday morning, the Commissioner, Lieutenant-Colonel Pugmire and Major Finney, arrived at Headquarters, after their very successful trip to the East and Newfoundland.

We are delighted to say that the Commissioner appears to be in very good condition, and is highly gratified with the success of his Campaign and the prospects of the War in the Provinces he has visited.

We are delighted to say that the Commissioner's inspiring presence in our midst again although, as will be seen by his fixtures on the last page, his movements will take him away from the centre at frequent intervals.

The Chief Secretary remained at St. John, N. B. to conduct the farewell meetings of Lieutenant-Colonel Turner. He arrived at Headquarters on Thursday morning.

GRAND FALLS, N.F.L.D., Visited by the Commissioner.

A GREAT MEETING AT NORTH SYDNEY.

(By W.R.)

The following news concerning the Commissioner's last meeting, of the recent tour, have been received from Lieutenant-Colonel Pugmire.

The Commissioner's visit to Grand Falls, Newfoundland was greatly appreciated. Successful meetings were held in the Brigade Hall. A. J. Young, D. S. Q., president, and the Hon. Minister of Agriculture took part. At North Sydney, the Albert Hall was filled with a most enthusiastic gathering, and the meeting was presided over by Mayor Kelly.

Three meetings were held on Sunday in the Lyceum Theatre, Sydney. Many of the leading citizens were present. At the afternoon gathering H. C. Burchell, Esq., and Judge Cameron warmly eulogised the Army's methods and noble work. A delightful service was held in the Prison when several persons sought Christ.

The Chief Secretary's visit to Glace Bay was a great success. The building was thronged, and visitors at every door. The Colonel also addressed the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Lieutenant-Turner, Brigadier Macmillan, and troops in splendid spirits.

New Divisional Commanders, Brigadier and Mrs. Abby, Rev. Ally Welcome.

(By W.R.)

Great credit to Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Turner, in capital, St. John, last night, conducted by Colonel Mann. The Citadel was crowded with Soldiers and friends. His Worship Mayor Hallock, Postmaster Stars and others made stirring farewell speeches. The Chief Secretary was in splendid form, and made eloquent and powerful address to behalf of Territorial Headquarters. Paid high tribute to the work of the farewelling Provincial Commanders. Brigadier Mortimer, Staff-Captain Barr, and other representative Officers also spoke. Mrs. Turner replied in touching manner. They are leaving behind them a splendid record.

The new Divisional Commanders have been royally welcomed, and have won hearts of all. Victory ahead.—Chandler.

Another Comrade Promoted to General.

Adjutant Roulston, of Newfoundland, Gone Home.

We very much regret to inform an old and trusted warrior has called Home, in the person of Adjutant Roulston, of Newfoundland.

To the disinterested poverty of its world, the immigration Work, where the number of failures was the master and the tribute the slave. He could, he said, give pleasure than that of attending his meeting. (Loud applause.)

At the close of the address M. Young heartily welcomed the Commissioner and the Army, expressing his own feelings of welcome from the hands of Mr. Young. The end, no danger of The Army being unduly puffed up. Very encouraging words received by the Army.

He had, he said been touched by the words of welcome from Mr. Young. The end, no danger of The Army being unduly puffed up. Very encouraging words received by the Army.

He received the warmest welcome when years ago he came to Halifax to inaugurate Army operations.

With powerful eloquence he told how the work of The Army had been the appeal arousing interest in our beloved country. She had been a long time in the country. Then had the question been raised: Shall we need to go to temptation and a cross? A poor washerwoman had sent her to me. I was moved in my heart. From this vital need.

The Commissioner's speech was well received, and the audience gave a hearty verdict. The Army Department, the Commissioner's speech was well received, and the audience gave a hearty verdict. The Army Department, the Commissioner's speech was well received, and the audience gave a hearty verdict.

The Commissioner's Eastern and Newfoundland Tour.

Great Meetings in Nova Scotia's Capital, Presided Over by His Honour Lieut. Governor Fraser.

Second Times in St. John's, Newfoundland—Methodist College Hall Gorged—One Hundred at the Mercy Seat, Making a Total of 250 for the Tour
—The Premier and Other Statesmen Address the Officers in Council.

COMMISSIONER and Mrs. Coombs, the Chief Secretary and Mrs. Mapp, with the P. C., spent a very busy day in Halifax, interviewing prominent citizens, and inspecting the Army's various institutions. In that city, an influential meeting was held in the Brunswick Street Methodist Church, which was ably presided over by His Honour Lieutenant-Governor Fraser. The Hall Herald gives the following account:—

His Honour, rising to address the silence remarked that he had been duly impressed by Colonel Purmire's singing of the hymn, "Sunrise on the Hills." It recalled some beautiful sights which he had seen in British Columbia. He had often, while there, behold with delight the sunshine on the hills.

Proceeding he set forth how manly as a mass, is miserable, and in need of a powerful friend.

The great body of Christian people are more and more realising that ordinary respectability ought to suffice us.

Splendid, indeed is the lead of the Salvation Army herein. They have gone far beyond the scope of mere conventional Christianity.

Continuing, he stated that he sympathised with the Army because of the service which it has rendered to the Province of Nova Scotia, and the Dominion of Canada. No situation they met in, will be too low for the noblest.

To the disinterestedness of the relative poverty of its workers, to its Immigration Work, whereby the number of failures was the minimum, he paid fine tribute.

He could, he said be in no position which could give him more pleasure than that of chairman at this meeting. (Loud applause.)

At the close of the address, Rev. D. M. Young heartily welcomed the Commissioner and the Army generally, expressing his own sympathy and that of Brunswick Street Methodist Church with the work and aims of The Army.

At this point Commissioner Coombs was introduced being enthusiastically received.

He had, he said been deeply touched by the words of sympathy and of welcome from His Honour and from Mr. Young. There was, he said, no danger of The Army becoming unduly puffed up. Whatever the encouragement received, the arch enemy saw to it that the discouragements balanced them.

He recalled the warmth of his reception when years ago he came to Halifax to inaugurate Salvation Army operations.

With powerful eloquence the Commissioner set forth how the Rescue Work of The Army had come from the appeal, agonising and hopeless of one outcast woman.

She had been brought into the situation. They had prayed with her. Then had the question faced them; Shall we send her out again to temptation and a cruel world?

A poor washerwoman had said, "Send her to me, I will give her a bed in my home."

From this vital need had sprung The Army Department of Rescue.

The Commissioner set forth with impassioned earnestness the need for this work in every city. No adult would presume to question it.

Then he told of the rich rewards of the work—the joy of seeing professes gradually lose every trace of the beast and developing the angel latent ever.

Finally (and no part of his remarkable lecture was finer than this) the Commissioner set forth that Immigration Work is entirely distinct from that of Rescue—it is its policy to send out to Canada, men and women whose fortune is in their moral character and their physique.

The speaker gave a noble prophecy of Canada's great destiny as a nation and urged that the East in peopling the West, and sending its sons and daughters thither, sees of its best men and women with a reverence for the thistles, which, said the speaker, have made the Empire great.

The Army, he said finally, will never rest until there is adequate provision for outcast women—will never rest until in every jail and in every prison there is some "Salvation" party made tracks for the Seagirt Island of Newfoundland.

St. John's, Newfoundland.

We had a very bad crossing of the gulf from North Sydney to Poi Aux Basques—considered to be the worst for months. We were several hours over due; the waves broke over the S.S. "Bruce" breaking the bridge and doing damage. Perhaps Major Findlay, the Commissioner's Private Secretary, could better describe things that happened on board, than the writer.

Lieut.-Colonel Rees, the Provincial Commander, joined the party at Newfoundland. A solo by Lieut.-Colonel Purmire and then the Commissioner presented awards to the following students who were successful in their exams:—

Gold medal to Leslie Rees (son of the P. C., who is now studying for the Associate of Arts and Matriculation of the University of London) intermediate grade.

Silver medal to Maud Burden, of Carbonear, Preliminary grade.

Bronze medal to Miss Taylor Primary grade.

The Chief Secretary introduced Major Findlay, who was given a warm welcome. He poured out his heart upon the people, after which our Leader took hold.

A splendid prayer meeting followed, when a number came forward to confess and confess, the sight of which whetted our appetites for great things on the morrow.

Sunday Morning.

The Citadel was just on filled for the holiness meeting, when the power of God ten mightily upon us. The Commissioner was at his best, and spoke with great power, and energy. The attention of the audience seemed riveted; they sat with eyes wide open, hearts open, drinking in every word. When the post was opened, forward they came with their failures and sins to be forgiven and cleansed. It was a glorious triumph.

Sunday Afternoon.

The College Hall the largest on the Island was filled, although the weather was not the most favourable. The huge crowd sang heartily, "Our soul is now united." Major Findlay petitioned Heaven most earnestly for the Holy Spirit to be poured out upon the gathering, and his prayer was graciously answered.

The Commissioner treated the audience to one of his very interesting and helpful Bible readings. Lieut.-Colonel Purmire who was called on to give his testimony, told how he was led to cast himself upon God. The Chief Secretary followed on the same lines and vividly portrayed God's dealings with him; his call for the Work etc. Hundreys wept. On the invitation being given, nineteen came forward to the mercy seat, from all parts of the great building they came. It was a glorious scene—there was joy both on earth and in heaven.

Sunday Night.

Officers and Soldiers came up to the platform for a full tide. Again the building was not only filled, but packed to its utmost extent; the highway likewise was filled, and hundreds unable to gain admission.

The Commissioner was at his best. The power of God seemed to get more. If ever a servant of God was faithful with sinners surely our Leader was. He called six sinners to the stage of "Reckoning Day." The General's song which is a great favourite in Newfoundland. A solo by Lieut.-Colonel Purmire and then the Commissioner presented awards to the following students who were successful in their exams:—

BUT WE MAY ALL FIND CHRIST.

Another Comrade Promoted to Glory.

Adjutant Moulton, of Newfoundland, Gone Home.

We very much regret to tell an old and trusted warrior, our comrade, Adjutant Moulton, of Newfoundland.

For some considerable time our comrade has laboured under health, and recently came to St. John's for special treatment, which apparently was not successful.

On Wednesday, November 10, our comrade saw the Commissioner and the Chief Secretary, and was much cheered by the kind words of our Leaders, but on Saturday he suddenly passed away.

This comrade is not well known outside of Newfoundland, but his many years of service have been spent on the Island. He was however greatly respected where ever he leaves a wife and four children.

We ask all comrade to pray for the intercessions of the Lord, that the bereaved ones may be comforted and sustained.

We expect to have the full and a biographical sketch of our comrade in an early issue.

Lieut.-Colonel Gaskin and E. Potter will conduct a Divisional inspection at Stratford on November 20th. In connection with the farewell of Major Hay, the Division.

Captain Walker, who is engaged in special financial work in the U.S., wrote, saying, that he is looking forward with encouraging success to the close of his tour. The money are big-hearted folks.

Captain Sparks, of the Finance Department, is shortly going to America, where he will superintend financial work, appeals etc. during Christmas season.

THE WEEK-END'S DESPATCHES

THIS IS A STRIKING PAGE!

Read It and Follow the Example Shown, and Work for God and Souls.

BAND FESTIVAL AT CARLETON PLACE.

(By wire.)

The Ottawa I. Band gave a musical festival at Carleton Place, on Saturday night November 20th. It was presided over by Mr. Robertson, Principal of the public school, and was a great success.

The week-end meetings were conducted by Staff-Captain Bress, in the Town Hall. Crowds attended the meetings, both in the open-air and indoors. Finances were good.—Capt. L. Benner.

PROGRESS IN LONDON I.

London I.—God has been drawing very near to us since the recent Congress. On Sunday November 15th God honoured our labours by giving us six precious souls and a full Citadel in the evening meeting.

We were ably assisted during the day by Major and Mrs. McGillivray, and Mrs. Adjutant Roe, of the American Field; also by the Rescue Staff. The Ward meetings have again been started, and we predict much blessing through them during the winter months.

The next important event, is the Chief Secretary's visit on December 11th and 12th. We are looking forward to this.—A. Goodwin, Staff-Captain.

FAREWELL OF A VETERAN SOLDIER.

Gananoque.—On Sunday November 7th, we had a farewell meeting for Sister Lalonde who has been a faithful Soldier for over twenty years, she having removed to Toronto. Her departure means a loss to us. We had a big crowd of people at the farewell meeting, indicating with what respect she was held in this town. That Sunday the Lord has blessed us by the return of several backsliders; so now we are able to make up quite a nice march for the open-air.—Bro. O'Brien.

St. John V., N. B.—Since Captain Neigel and Lieutenant Clinch have taken charge, the Corps has progressed. The meetings are largely attended; open-air are record-breakers, and God's Spirit is working mightily with the people. Souls are coming to God in nearly every meeting.

We have some real good talent at No. V.—vocal and instrumental, and mean to use it well.—E. M. F.

Special weekend visit to Paris, of the Brantford Songsters. Saturday night monitor march in costume, representing all nations in the Barracks. International Song Service which was a great success.

Sunday afternoon, another song service. At night Brother Sib led the meeting.—S.M. S.

DRINK VICTIM CONVERTED.

Total of Twelve Souls for Week.

The Spirit of God is working in a mighty manner amongst us at Kingston. This past week, twelve souls have sought salvation. One man, in the poor house, who had been ruined by drink gave himself to God.

On Sunday night, Adjutant Smith spoke on "My Spirit Shall Not Always Strive." The word of God went home to many hearts, and we rejoiced to see seven in the fountain.

The Adjutant read The General's address in the afternoon, delivered in the Congress Hall by The General on his return to public work. Tears were in many eyes, and fervent responses and Amen's, were given by the comrades and friends who listened with deep interest.

Just before the address was read, a Sister who had recently been converted in prison, testified of God's saving and keeping power.

We are believing for a great revival in this place. Lord let it come.—One who was present.

PLANS FOR FINANCING CORPS.

On Wednesday we had a Soldiers' tea at St. Thomas, and all praise is due to the Sisters, for the way they so ably catered for our needs. After the tea the Adjutant told us the position of the Corps, financially, and also proposed a plan for obtaining the money necessary for fuel and lighting for the winter.

During the evening sales were rendered by Sister N. Lazarus and Bros., Woodlark and Allard, and a duct by Sisters Milligan and Warlock.

On Sunday afternoon we had a dedication service the baby son of Brother and Sister Voley being dedicated to God and The Army.

At night we had a glorious salvation meeting, which closed with three backsliders and two juniors seeking mercy at the foot of the cross.—A. Buckley.

HAMILTON D. O's. ON TOUR.

Major and Mrs. Green recently visited Collingwood. Their meetings were conducted in the Court House, which was packed—extra chairs filling up spare corners. Three persons sought salvation.

Burton and Newmarket were also visited and on Wednesday, November 17th, Mrs. Major Green led a special meeting at Aurora while the Major held forth at Uxbridge.

At Niagara Falls, a few days ago, the Major conducted a splendid meeting. Four ex-Officers from the U. S. A. were present. Two have since re-consecrated their all to God as a result of the meeting.

Owen Sound.—On Sunday November 14th, six souls sought salvation.

THE EDITOR AT WYCHWOOD.

A Small, But Thriving Corps.

Brigadier Bond conducted the week-end services at Wychwood. He was assisted by Adjutant Walter, Captain Church and Dodd, and Candidates Gray.

On Saturday night the Brigadier related his experiences in Zealand to a fair-sized crowd. The meetings on Sunday were well attended.

The Band rendered excellent service during the whole of the week-end Campaign. The Songsters also contributed their share to the success of the meetings, singing both in the open-air and indoors.

On Monday night the War Cry Artist gave a short illustrated service, but as it was a pouring wet night not many people were present. The spirit of warm-hearted comradeship among the Soldiers of this Corps is very noticeable. Captain and Mrs. Oldi are delighted to be amongst such enthusiastic and loyal helpers, and are doing their utmost to extend the Kingdom in the corner of the battlefield.

THE HOUSE IN ORDER AT HUNTSVILLE.

Re-Opening Services—New Officers Welcomed.

Sunday, October 21st, we welcomed Captain Snellgrove to our town. Being shut out of our Barracks on account of repairs we had the Orange Hall for our meetings.

On Sunday, November 4th, our Barracks was ready for occupation, and it was reopened by Captain Snellgrove and Lieutenant Edwards. The wind-up at night, was one of the best this Corps has had for some time. One young man and his wife stepped out on the promises of God, and then two young ladies followed, making four at the mercy seat.

On Tuesday, November 6th, we had a special meeting. A number of business men and the Baptist Minister were present. They spoke very favourably of the work of the Army. One man said that he thought the Barracks a credit to the town of Huntsville.

The Band rendered good service during the re-opening celebrations and are to be highly congratulated on their improvement. After a pleasant evening, the good Sisters passed cake and coffee around.—M. J. L.

VICTORY IS THE CRY.

We are having victory at Sarnia. On Sunday night Nov. 7th, God came very near, and four pre-lives souls sought and found salvation.

We have just finished our Harvest Festival, and came out victorious. Everyone went in with God's blessing and a good will and success has crowned our efforts.

We are looking forward to mighty victories this coming winter.—W. H.

Sunday, November 14th was a red-letter day in the history of the Sarnia Corps. Four Soldiers were added to the roll, an event of great importance—to Sarnia at least. We had with us Brothers Lightfoot the blind Navy, who took the afternoon and night lessons.—G. Taylor.

BANDMASTER TELLS ALL.

Four New Soldiers.

On Thursday, Brigadier Bond of Ottawa Citadel Corp., gave an interesting lecture: "My Life." His recollections are vivid. After the death of his parents, the old homestead was sold, and the downward trend could be dated from that. Then his wanderings began, made his way from the surroundings of the Wilts and Berkshire counties, up to the Isle of England, till he arrived in Cheshire, where he met the Saviour. At that time till the present he has gone forward loving and serving God, till now he is a magnificent crowd worthy of the name of Citadel Band.

The same evening one Englishman, and two Frenchmen were sworn in, and beneath the Flag, to render all true. God grant him a long life.

TRENTON'S NEW HALL.

Opened by Brigadier Bond. Local Friends Offer Contribution.

Brigadier Hargrave, of the Belleville Band, opened the Hall at Trenton, on Thursday night. A good crowd of people paid their appreciation by the opening. It has been for the purpose of The Army, and great praise is given to Saylor, for the way he has done.

Rev. S. C. Moore, of the Methodist Church, spoke in behalf of The Army's Work and invited us on securing such a Hall; and also Mr. J. A. Prinsius, tradesman of the spoke in good terms of the Army's work, and Mr. Saylor, the King Street Methodist organist, rendered us a hearty welcome.

We are believing that we will be converted this year. Keep an eye on Trenton.

HAMILTON I. LOCALS VISIT PINGOTT, TORONTO.

We enjoyed very much the visit of S. M. Henderson, I. P. Secretary White, and Rev. Mr. Newsome, for the week-end at Pingott. There constitute a fine quartette in singing and their services appreciated by our people.

The meetings were rich in love and power, and while results were seen, much more was done, and God's name was glorified without doubt, from the appeals and pointed testimony ever evoked. Pingott grew slowly, but surely.—H. H.

During Dec. Month, our course on the 10th, meeting, November 11th, a month of noisy precision in session. We have some fine speakers here.

Classicalism is next to us, and we have it here. Our Quarterly is a credit to work—a Soldier.

TRENTON'S NEW HALL

Opened by Brigadier Mapp. Local Friends Offer Dedications.

Brigadier Hargrave, assisted the Belleville Band, opened the Hall at Trenton, on Thursday 18th. A good crowd of people attended their appreciation by rendering of The Army's Missionary work. A local paper gives the following account:

Commissioner Coombe may well be proud of the grand demonstration which was given by The Salvation Army last night in the Methodist Church Hall. Long before 8 o'clock Hall began to fill, and by the time the Commissioner arrived, the standing room could barely be obtained.

At eight o'clock Commissioner Mapp entered with prayer. He proceeded to address his hearers.

He expressed great pleasure at seeing his old friends the citizens of St. John's and he was very glad to note what progress The Army had made since he was here last year.

He spoke in eulogistic terms of the wealth of Newfoundland.

We are believing that many will be converted this year. Keep an eye on Trenton.

HAMILTON LOCALS VISIT PINCOTT, TORONTO.

We enjoyed very much the services of G.M. Henderson, Y.M.C.A. Secretary White, and Mrs. Rowe, for the weekend, at Lippincott. These constitute a fine quartette for singing, and their services were appreciated by our people.

The meetings were rich in meaning and power, and while no results were seen, much was done, and God's name will be held without doubt, from the appeals and pointed testimonies of our comrades. Lippincott is slow, but surely.—J. H. M.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.—There came forward in the Sunday meeting, November 14th, a movement of seven previous members. We have some good Cry Scamers here.

Cheerfulness is next to God, and we have it here. Our Headquarters is a credit to the Work of a Soldier.

used as a sheet to lie on.

A slight idea of one of the difficulties that have to be overcome—language—is found in the fact that 150 languages and dialects are spoken in India. The lot of an Indian Missionary is hard for not only have customs to be overcome, but a false religion must be crushed out.

In India there was a god for everything, and on account of this the priest, because through him only the gods could be approached, held full sway.

With this power The Army has to fight and through God's grace great headway was being made against these false beliefs, and souls were being won for Christ every year.

To illustrate, the customs of the people, Col. Mapp had a number of men and women dressed as natives singing an Indian song. He himself also went through the ceremony of the Hindu priest approaching his god.

Prayer by the Commissioner, ended the successful demonstration.

The great Leader of The Salvation Army, General Booth was next spoken of, and the "God Bless The General," pronounced by the speaker, was caught up by the audience.

He spoke touchingly of the past work of The Army's Founder, which began really after his fiftieth year. The accident which happened to General Booth during his Motor Tour, although it has impaired his sight, has in no way lessened his great desire to do good. By acclamation the audience expressed the wish that a message of best wishes be sent to The General.

Army revivals were next discussed,

and proved very interesting,

especially when Colonel Rees, representing a convert at a Welsh revival meeting, sang a Welsh hymn. Miss

Colonel Rees, who was the first

Officer in French-Canada rendered

a French hymn, which had often been sung in the camps.

The Salvation Army has preachers

in fifty-three different countries.

The Czar has expressed his welcome to

The Army, while the explanation of his conduct by the Premier is rather unique: "They are not undesirable, because they do not interfere with the internal workings of State."

Work amongst the lepers of Java,

and the Indians of Alaska, was also described and was listened to with great attention.

Officers' Councils.

This was the Annual Congress, and a time that is eagerly looked forward to by the Officers of the Sea-girt Isle every year. From all parts of the Colony they came, full of desire to see and hear their Leaders and to meet their comrade Officers.

St. John's is looked upon very much in the same way as Jerusalem was in the old days, when they went up for the great feasts. Every Session reached high-water mark, and the Officers themselves declare them to be the best ever held in Newfoundland.

The Officers were helpful and enlightening, as were those also

by the Chief Secretary. The papers were read by Lieutenant-Colonel Rees and the writer were well received and heartily endorsed.

The Officers themselves drew out our very soul towards them.

They are a beautiful brave lot, and a credit to our Army.

We listened with great pleasure to the interesting reports of their devoted toil and faithfulness, under very adverse circumstances. I am sure I cannot do justice to that last meeting with them. I never heard the Commissioner to better advantage.

He was faithful, but so compassionate.

He could not have been more tender if they had been his own children in the flesh. We expected

when stretched out, could be

THE WAR CRY.

ENSIGN TRICKEY FAREWELL.

GOOD RECORD OF ADVANCES MADE.

Ensige Trickey said good-bye on Sunday night to Lisgar Street. He expressed his regret that Mrs. Trickey who is still in the hospital, was unable to be present, and thanked Officers, Soldiers and friends who had in many ways shown sympathy during their sickness.

Lieutenant-Colonel Rees Adjutants Hickcock and Ogilvie expressed their sincere thanks to the Commissioner and his aides for help and blessing received.

Sir Edward Morris, the Premier, the Hon. Sydney D. Blandford Minister of Agriculture, and Mr. Bennett, M.P., paid the Officers a surprise visit, and, after being introduced by the Commissioner, addressed the Council enlisting the work of The Army in many of its branches.

The Commissioner and Chief Secretary had an audience with His Excellency Sir Ralph Champneys Williams, K.C.M.G., Governor of Newfoundland, at Government House. His Excellency was most gracious, and expressed his appreciation of the grand and noble work The Army is doing in the Empire's oldest Colony. Our Leader also had an interview with the Minister of Justice.

The Send-off.

Through the kindness of Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland, and W. D. Reid Esq., President of the Reid Newfoundland Co., a car was placed at our Leaders' disposal, to convey them to Grand Falls, for the purpose of inspecting some Government lands. The Minister of Agriculture accompanied the party. The Commissioner gave his final charge to his troops and as we sang, "God be with you till we meet again," our special train pulled out of the station and our dear comrades were left behind to carry on the War under the able leadership of Lieutenant and Mrs. Rees, assisted by Staff-Captain Care. God bless Newfoundland. More anon.—J. S. P.

SOLO FOR AN HOUR.

Seventy Songs in Sixty Minutes.

Adjutant Habkirk, Officer of Dovercourt, performed the marvel of singing continuously for one hour and finished, apparently, as fresh as at the start. The Adjutant states that although it has done a lot of singing in open-air in all weathers, yet he never knew what it was to have a sore throat.

The meetings at Dovercourt have been very interesting and powerful as was evidenced last night, when four souls came to the mercy seat; also, one sought holiness in the morning meeting. Many were undecided in both meetings, and we are looking for such results as will make the reports to the Cry more attractive.

We are sorry to have to record the death of two Juniors. Brother and Mrs. Jones' little four-year-old son passed suddenly away, and while the funeral was being conducted, the four-year-old son of Bawdman and Mrs. Chapman was borne to the other world.

We are praying that God may sustain and cheer our sadly bereaved comrades.—J. Bateman, Corps Cor.

NEW OFFICERS: NEW DOINGS.

Things have gone forward space in Clinton, since the arrival of our new Officers. Captains Mortimore and Stewart.

Two young men recently claimed salvation, and are becoming open-air fighters.

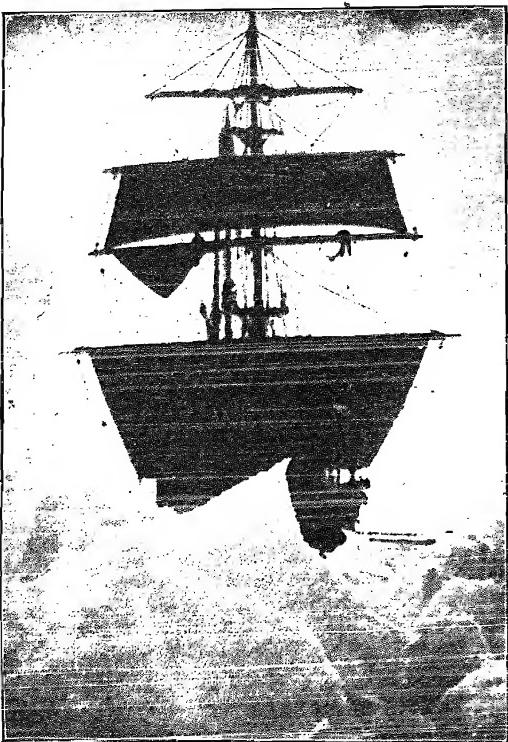

Tuesday November 18th, we had a service of song, followed by a coffee supper.

The Officers have already gained the hearts of the people and great interest is aroused.

We have a band of faithful soldiers, and we are hoping are long to add to the number.—D. W. L. T.

THE HEART OF THE ANTARCTIC.

Lieutenant Shackleton's Narrative of His South Polar Expedition.

The Rescue of the "Nimrod."

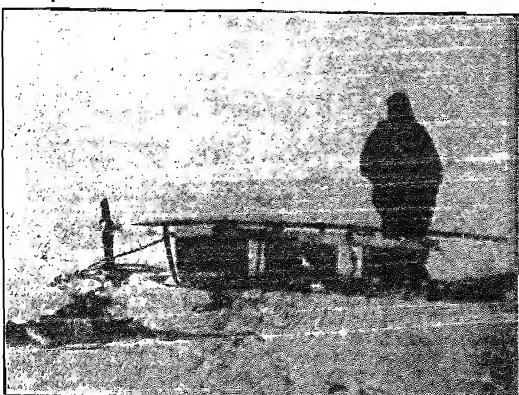

"We were soon all on the deck of the 'Nimrod' once more and were immediately stood up in a row to be photographed. As soon as the cameras had worked their wicked will upon us we were a sorry sight, our friends hurried us off for afternoon tea. A ter our 122 days of hard toll over the sea-ice of the coast and the great snow desert of the hinterland the little ship seemed to us as luxurious as an ocean liner. To find oneself gorged with new-made bread, fresh butter, cake and tea was blithum."

In February, 1907, (written Dr. J. Scott Keltie, in the London "Sphere"). Mr. Shackleton announced his intention to lead an expedition to the South Pole, any scepticism existing as to his capacity for such an undertaking, that scepticism was effectively dispelled when barely two years later he cabled to the Daily "Mail" the narrative of his wonderful success in reaching within about ninety-seven nautical miles of the coveted goal. Geographers profess not to be greatly interested in the mere search for either pole; but geographers are human, and it is hoped patriotic. Now that apparently, the North Pole has been swept from the field of competition we may surely be allowed to cherish a hope that the Union Jack will be carried across the hundred miles or so which have been left untraversed by Shackleton and his party, and planted at 90° deg. S. on the lofty plateau on which the South Pole is situated. This, we may be assured, will be accomplished by Capt. Scott within the next year or two. Mr. Shackleton claims his great indebtedness to the experience which he acquired as a member of Captain Scott's Expedition, and it would be safe to say that had Captain Scott not pioneered the way across the great ice barrier to the root of the mountains that lead up to the South Pole plateau, Mr. Shackleton could hardly have accomplished what he has done. It is right that Captain Scott should complete what he has so well begun.

What we may perhaps call the final phase of this remarkable expedition—the publication of the story by Mr. Shackleton himself, is in every way worthy of all that has gone before. The publisher has risen to the occasion, and has done every justice to the record of the expedition. The maps, which have been constructed by the Royal Geographical Society, enable the reader to follow the narrative with intelligence, and afford a satisfactory idea of the large area of ground that has been covered and the great amount of work that has been accomplished.

Lieutenant Shackleton Standing by the Broken Southern Bridge.

It is impossible in the space at our disposal, to give anything like a satisfactory review of this great book. There are only a few points to which attention may be drawn. After a very trying voyage southwards, Hut Point, in McMurdo Bay, was reached, in the early days of February, 1908; that was in about latitude 70° deg. 50 min. S. and there the house was erected and the "Nimrod" sent back. During the southern autumn and winter, every preparation was made for the varied work which had to be accomplished during the short summer of 1908-9. We cannot dwell on the plucky ascent of Mount Erebus, 13,550 ft., high which entailed so much suffering on the part of those who took part in it.

After sending off Professor David and other members of what was called the northern party, who were able to make their way to the South Magnetic Pole, Mr. Shackleton proceeded to the organization of the southern party, consisting of himself and three other members of the expedition. The main details of this wonderful feat are already well known. A start was made from headquarters on November 2, 1908; Captain Scott's furthest, 82° deg. 16½ min. S. was reached on November 26. On December 1, in 83° deg. 16 min., only one pony was lost, and on December 7, after the base of the great mountain range was reached, that unfortunate pony got lost by falling down a crevasse. An shortened supply of the most formidable difficulty of the party had to be faced—the crossing of what is perhaps, the greatest glacier in the world, which leads to the plateau on which the South Pole is situated. Christmas was spent at 85° deg. 55 min. S. at an altitude of 9,500 ft., and with still further reduced food, the furthest South limit, was reached on January 24, about ninety-seven nautical miles from their goal; thus, about twelve degrees of the most difficult travel imaginable was covered in about nineteen weeks.

Under conditions which no description can enable one to realize, the return journey was covered in about ten weeks, and the "Nimrod" was reached on March 1st, 1909. Three weeks later the main results of the Expedition were published in the Daily "Mail."

Although in popular estimation this is the most striking feature of the expedition, it is only a part of the great work which has been accomplished. The southern party did not confine itself to a mere dash at the Pole. They carefully mapped the main features of the region which they traversed, made many observations of interest to geography and other departments of science, and brought back with them, under trying conditions, specimens of rocks which they met with.

With great promptitude after the arrival of the expedition at its base, the various instruments for carrying on the scientific work were installed and operations were at once begun. The expedition was well equipped in

EMMA FRANCES

THURSDAY

Death has visited the commandant, Brother Andrew, and taken from him at the early age of fifteen months.

Our dear comrade died quite suddenly with pneumonia, and was ill for short weeks, and on October 10th her spirit took its flight in mansions above. Towards the end she suffered much, but with which she bore it as was an example of what God can do.

About three months prior to her promotion, Frances gave her heart and was always with her testimony. She was M. Agent and also had a District. She was always ready to do what she could. I was very much during her illness, and when she felt satisfied that it was God's will, and she said that she had now right. Just before she sang that verse:

Row me over the tide,
Angels are waiting for me there.

Row me over the tide,
Then bade her loved ones go and went home.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. McDonald, pastor Ensign McMillie and Captain Ross.

The parents, brother and sister who are left behind, have expressed sympathy and prayer. It is a dark hour. It is true we can never understand God's dealing. His word declares that we know not now, we shall know after.

A large number attended the memorial service, and although unable to speak, we all know that God spoke to many hearts.

Our Sister the Haven hath gone.

Outgiving the tempest and wild.
Her rest she hath sooner obtained.

And left her companions behind.

With songs let us follow her.

And mount with her spirit high.

Except to the mansion of light.

And lodged in the Eden shore.

BROTHER SCOTT, OF WINDSOR
I. CORPS.

The services today were of a memorial character. Brother Scott, the Junior Cadet who died on Saturday, November 12th, 1909. During the funeral service at night, the body of departed comrade lay in the crypt. Adjutant McMillie conducted a very solemn and impressive service. Sergeant Major spoke on behalf of the Senior Cadets, and Mrs. Mitchell, Sergt.-Major and Sergeant, spoke on behalf of the Junior Cadets. All senior departed comrade as one who deserved to do his Master full credit.

He worked well and faithfully among the Juniors in his class, and he became much beloved. He was conscious to within minutes of his death, when he said, "I surrender all," and away.

Fifteen souls came out for the erection and salvation at the end of the service; five Juniors—S. W. Prince, seniors—

General at Bristol.

The success of The General's first Saving Campaign since his return to public work was quite sufficient to reassure everyone as to the soundness of his restoration to

The Foreign Secretary arrives in Annual Commissioning of Cadets.

One of the most interesting and looked-forward-to annual events in London is the Commissioning of the Naval College Cadets. For years the Congress Hall has been reserved for the occasion. This year the crowds seemed to be greater than ever, for, in spite of the charge gate, even standing room was at a premium.

The reading of the appointments,
as usual, evoked cheers and applause
as the more familiar names of cadets or places were announced.
But the most electric part of a thrilling gathering was the calling on to the platform of the Cadets who had been chosen for service abroad. Two days and two lasses for Korea; two for Korea; one lassie volunteer for the Javanese Leper Settlement, and two other lasses for South America, made up the "Foreign" Contingent. The reception given to these modern prophets to the nations was not only a generous recognition of their warrior spirit, but a striking tribute to the internationalism of the Army.

Brigadier and Mrs. Jordan.

Before leaving for South Africa,
the Chief of the Staff promoted Major and Mrs. William Jordan to the rank of Brigadier. The new Brigadier will not only have charge of the Training of Cadets, but his appointment will carry with it the Command of the Western Division, including the Colony Capital—Cape Town. They leave for their new sphere on the 13th Inst.

Home For Old People—Christians.

The Christians Town Authorities have handed over to us a large house to be used as a Home for about thirty old people. It is well situated in one of the suburbs, is surrounded by a nice garden, and has a beautiful view over the town and the picturesque Fjord. The Institution will be opened at the beginning of December.

New Openings.

Three new Corps have been opened in different parts of Norway during the month of October, at Far-sund, Sandefjord and Karmen. At the last named place situated in a country district, we have purchased a very suitable Hall. In the middle of November another Corps is to be opened at Kirkenes, an iron mine centre in the North not very far from the Russian Border.

Honour For a Veteran Salvationist.

News is just to hand that one of our Soldiers, belonging to Tromso Corps—Brother John Ojaesi—has been elected as Commissioner of the Court of Conciliation. Our comrade has for a long time been Police Master in Tromso, and is very popular among the 8,000 inhabitants of this interesting town within the Polar Circle. For many years he has been a good and active Soldier.
It will be remembered that in Norway one of our Officers—Brigadier Olfert
Tonning, is a member of the Christiania Town Council.

Lieut-Colonel Palstra and his wife have received a most enthusiastic welcome from old and new comrades in Holland on their appointment to that country. At both the private and public meetings which had been arranged for them, they have captured all hearts by their warm and earnest words. The Com-

ASIA.

Commissioner Booth-Tucker's Tour.

Commissioner and Mrs. Booth-Tucker left the Indian Headquarters on November 11th for an extended Tour in the course of which they will visit the Marathas Territory, Bombay, and Ceylon. At Bombay they will conduct the Commissioning of the Cadets now in the Central Training Home. The Commissioner will be taking a lantern and Cinematograph outfit with him. The Lantern has proved to be a great attraction and educator for the Indian peoples.

Brigadier and Mrs. Measures.

Brigadier Measures, with Mrs.
Measures and part of their family,
sailed for Colombo on November 10th, to take up the post of Territorial Commander for the Island of Ceylon. The Brigadier has done twenty-two years' service under the Flag. Both he and Mrs. Measures are looking forward with keen expectancy to their new field of labour. They will be installed at the end of the present month, by Commissioner Booth-Tucker.

UNITED STATES.

Commissioner Cadman.

The Commissioner had a very stormy passage across the Atlantic, nevertheless, he arrived in good health and spirits. A welcome meeting had been arranged for him in the Memorial Hall New York, but,
on account of the rough weather, the S.S. "Kaiser Wilhelm II" was delayed and the Commissioner arrived too late to take part in the function.

The Commissioner has already visited several of the Corps. One or two of these are commonly known as "hard goes," but the very Elijah succeeded in arousing great enthusiasm securing large congregations, and good results at the penitent form. The Chief Secretary writes to say that the prospects are good for a successful Tour.

AUSTRALIA.

Brunswick Rescue Home—Melbourne.
Colonel Bates, who is at present in Australia on Audit business, gives brief particulars of an interesting case that has come under his notice. He says:-

"We have an Officer connected with the Brunswick Rescue Home, who attends the Police Court, where some of the girls are handed over to us. One notable inmate was a woman who had a life sentence in connection with a notorious case known as the 'Trunk Mystery.' She was convicted of performing an illegal operation, from which the young woman died. The body was afterwards found packed in a box, floating on the Yarra. After seven years in prison, she became perfectly deaf, and her health so failed that she was handed over to us. Since then she has been seized with tuberculosis in the bones, which are now decaying. Finally we were compelled to transfer her to a Home for Incurables, but long before leaving us she gave evidence of being saved, and still maintains a good testimony."

BERMUDA MILITARY LEAGUERS.

The photo that appeared on our front page last week, is that of Adjutant and Mrs. Smith, and the Military comrades who so bravely worked for the Harvest Festival Effort. Brother Molloy was their champion collector closely followed by Brother Harbour, the difference being six cents. Brother Danne made a good hit with $4.00. These comrades finished up with smashing their targets and putting a little extra besides. We are sorry to say that we lose these boys in January, as they proceed to South Africa. But our loss will be someone's gain.—Rayonet, for Euston and Mrs. Smith, every way to carry out work in the various departments of science which are interested in this desolate continent; the scientific staff were men of training and experience. Nearly one-half of the second volume is devoted to a useful summary of the scientific results—biology, geography, geology, physics, chemistry, mineralogy, magnetism, and sanitary conditions. The detailed account of these results will occupy several large volumes and will form a vast addition to scientific knowledge.

What, perhaps, in many respects is the most interesting of these results is the evidence which has been obtained of the probability that at some remote geographical epoch this continent sustained a flourishing vegetable if not animal life. A section of what is believed to be fossilised sandstone has been obtained from a moraine in latitude 85 deg. S.

At the Furthest South.

January 9, 1909.—Our last day outwards. We have shot our bolt, and the tide is 88 deg. 23 min. S., longitude 152 deg. E. The wind eased down at 1 p.m. and at 2 a.m. we up and had breakfast. At 4 a.m. started south with the Queen's Union Jack, a brass cylinder containing stamps and documents to place at the furthest point, cameras, glasses, and compass. At 9 a.m. we were in 88 deg. 23 min. S., half running, half walking over a surface much hardened by the recent blizzard. It was strange for us to go alone without the nightmare of a sledge dragging behind us. We hoisted her Majesty's flag and the other Union Jack, and took possession of the plateau in the name of His Majesty. While the Union Jack blew out stiffly in the icy gale that cut us to the bone, we looked south with our powerful glasses, but could see nothing but the dead white snow

The Christmas War Cry IS NOW READY!

ALL UNITE IN SAYING THAT IT IS THE BEST YET!

MAJOR PHILLIPS, who was, for a number of years, the War Cry Printer, has this to say about the 1909 Christmas Number:-

"I was in close touch with the War Cry when the first Special Number was considered, and we thought a great stride forward had been made when we issued a supplement containing the portraits of the Staff Officers of Canada. Since then, the special issues have advanced by leaps and bounds, and I have watched their development with very great interest, for it has been most marked; but I unhesitatingly say that the present Number, for wealth and beauty of illustration, literary excellence and interest, and lavish use of printers' art, excels them all. It is, undoubtedly, the best yet!"

COLONEL PEART, the Chief Secretary for America, writes thus:-

"From what I can remember of your last year's issue, the present Cry is a decided improvement; especially fine are the two plates: 'Nativity,' and 'Home, Sweet Home.' . . . I know something of the thought and labour that are entailed in getting out such a splendid production, and wish to heartily congratulate you on the same."

BRIGADIER ADBY says:-

"I have carefully gone through the Christmas Cry, and I consider it a very excellent production. The plates are exceedingly good. In fact it is all good and would be hard to beat. It should command a ready sale."

The foregoing are a few of the many highly complimentary things that have been said about the Christmas Cry. Don't forget that it is now on sale and can be obtained for TEN CENTS a copy. Ask the Officer of the Corps in your town, or the nearest to you, to let you have a copy right away.

phal. There was no break in the plateau as it extended towards the pole, and we feel sure that the goal we have failed to reach lies on this plain. We stayed only a few minutes, and then taking the Queen's flag and eating our scanty meal as we went, we hurried back, and reached our camp about 3 p.m. We were so dead tired that we only did two hours' march in the afternoon and camped at 5.30 p.m. The temperature was minus 19 deg. Fahr. Fortunately for us, our tracks were not obliterated by the blizzard; indeed, they stood up, making a trail easily followed. Homeward bound at last. We have done our best."

body and its present status is evidence of the success of his efforts. Mr. Greene not only enjoyed the confidence of the members of the Corps, but was recognised by the citizens at large, as a good musician and Bandmaster, and general regret will be expressed upon his finding it imperative to retire from the conductorship.

His successor, Mr. Peryer taken up the baton with the Band in good condition—thanks to Mr. Greene's work in the past years.

In the many Ontario towns and cities which the Band has visited, it has won a reputation that is not only a credit to itself, but also to the city. New uniforms were secured a short time ago, and the instruments are newly plated, and in good order.

Salvation Songs THE COMMISSIONER'S APPOINTMENTS.

Holiness.

Tune.—None of self 149; Song Book, No. 310.

1 Lord, I come to Thee beseeching
For a heart-renewing here;
Up to Thee my hands are stretching,
After Thee my heart is reaching,
Saviour, in Thy power draw near.

Holy Spirit, come revealing
What has hindered my success;
Tis for light, Lord, I'm appealing,
I am here to seek Thy healing,
Thou art here to save and bless.

'Tis the Blood—Oh, wondrous river!
Now its power has touched my soul;
'Tis the blood from sin can sever
'Tis the blood that doth deliver,
Here and now it makes me whole!

Tunes.—Rockingham 15; Remond, 71; Song Book, No. 408.

2 He wills that I should fully be;
That holiness I long to feed;
That full divine conformity,
To all my Saviour's righteous will Chorus.

Oh, I'm glad there's cleansing in the blood.
On Thee O God, my soul is stayed
And waits to prove Thine almost will;
The promise by Thy mercy made,
Thou cause, Thou will in me fulfill.
Now let Thy Spirit bring me in;
And give Thy servant to possess
The land of rest from abyd sin
The land of perfect holiness.

War and Testimony.

Tune.—Hallelujah to the Lamb, B. B. 34.

3 Jesus I love Thy charming name,
'Tis music to my ear;
Fain would I sound it out so loud
That earth and heaven should hear.

Chorus.
Hallelujah to the Lamb.

Thy grace still dwells within my heart,
And sheds its fragrance there;
The noblest balm of all its wounds,
The cordial of its care.

I'll speak the honour of Thy name,
With my last labouring breath;
Then, spotless, close Thee in my arms,
The Conqueror of death.

Tune.—Never run away, 52; Eb and F; Song Book, No. 611.

4 To save the world is our desire,
For ever we pray;
We'll never tire, we'll stand the fire,
And never, never run away.

Chorus.

We're marching on to conquer all,
Sin's greatest stronghold we'll attack,
Our Captain well obey;

The foe shall yet be driven back,
We'll never, never run away.

Onward we'll march, with flag unfurled,
Jesus shall have the sway;
Like him who died to save the world,
We'll never, never run away.

Salvation.

Tunes.—Blessed Lord, in Thee, 163; Australia, 102; Song Book No. 169.

5 Pity Lord, a wretched sinner,
One whose sins for vengeance cry;
Groaning beneath the heavy burden,
Throbbing heart and aching sigh.

O my Saviour! Canst thou let a sinner die?

He will save thee—He has promised
To attend unto thy prayer;
